Venice, from swampy refugee islands to the Most Serene Republic that controlled the Mediterranean. An introductory lecture that will help you to discover its millennia of history, art, culture and unknown treasures. From the Dolomites to the thin islands that separate the sea with the lagoon, passing across the land of the well-known Prosecco to the Amarone della Valpolicella. Through the classes you will not just learn about the particular birth of Venice or the beautiful Palladio's Villas on the Brenta River, but you will have an authentic experience of the customs and traditions of the Veneto region.

About the presenter:

Born and raised in Chioggia, an island in the Venetian Lagoon, Dario Penzo is an archaeologist and Italian teacher with a Bachelor's degree in Cultural Heritage Conservation (2012) and a Master's degree in Archaeology (2015) from the University Ca' Foscari of Venice. He spent his academic years between Italy, Belgium and the United States before moving permanently to the DC area at the end of 2017. Dario started his teaching career training archaeology students while working for the Ca' Foscari University Anthropology Laboratory. His passion for cultural heritage and Italian history was useful for his research studies, which allowed him to publish papers in Italian archaeological journals and present his theses' research at the Green Templeton College of the University of Oxford.
